

Rachelle is a seasoned executive leader with expertise in academic healthcare and research administration, organizational leadership, and strategic planning. She excels in driving institutional strategy, fostering cross-functional collaboration, and optimizing operational efficiency.

As the Associate Vice President, Strategic Integration at the University of Texas Medical Branch (UTMB) in Galveston, TX, Rachelle is responsible for steering comprehensive strategy integration. Her leadership is underpinned by robust analytical skills and a proven track record in cross-functional team management. With over 13 years of executive experience, she has mastered the ability to align initiatives with institutional missions and values, ensuring impactful stakeholder engagement and effective resource stewardship.

In addition, as the Executive Administrator at UTMB for three schools, Rachelle spearheads strategic planning and financial management, directly contributing to revenue growth and operational excellence. Her approach integrates a deep understanding of healthcare administration with strategic business acumen, positioning her to effectively lead and implement integration strategies at UTMB.

Before joining UTMB, she served as the Department Administrator for Medicine (Infectious Disease, Infection Control, and Employee Health) at the University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center. In this role, she led strategic planning, faculty relations, and financial management while overseeing clinical services, research, and institutional operations. Prior to that, she was the Associate Director for Finance, Grants, and Contracts at MD Anderson, earning prestigious recognitions such as the 2019 Award in Education Excellence and the 2018 MD Anderson Best Boss Award.

Beyond Texas, Rachelle has held leadership roles at renowned institutions. She was the Grants and Contracts Director at The Geneva Foundation, a premier nonprofit dedicated to advancing military medical research. She also serves as an Adjunct Professor at Purdue Global University, teaching Medical Law and Bioethics, Health Law, and Health Informatics.

Her career began at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, where she managed research administration roles in Epidemiology and Grants and Contracts. She also served as a Buyer/Contract Specialist in Procurement Services at the University of Chicago.

Rachelle holds a BS in Business Administration from Samford University, a Juris Doctor (JD) from The University of Alabama School of Law, and an MBA with a concentration in Healthcare from Case Western Reserve University. She is also a Certified Research Administrator and an active Merit Reviewer and Ambassador for the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute.

Her professional affiliations include the National Contract Management Association (NCMA), Society of Research Administrators International (SRA), and National Council of University Research Administrators (NCURA).

Residing in Houston, TX, Rachelle enjoys life with her husband, three children, and two beloved French Bulldogs, Frankie and Fenny. In her spare time, she indulges in her passions for reading, cooking, entertaining, and staying active with F45 workouts.
